A BRIEF HISTORY

The Swan Valley region is built on a unique history and heritage blending Indigenous, pioneering, colonial and southern European roots. The local Aboriginal people and custodians of the land are Whadjuk Noongar people who have inhabited the region for at least 40,000 years, and are the traditional owners of the Swan Valley. The historic town of Guildford in the Whadjuk region has always been an important meeting place for Noongar people, containing many campsites and spiritual sites which have been used by Noongars to the present day.

Captain James Stirling first sighted the Valley in 1827, and quickly realised the Valley's rich and fertile soils would sustain settlement; the first agricultural ventures by colonial settlers began in 1829. Southern European migrants arrived in the Swan Valley after World War I and then again after World War II, drawing upon their wine making skills from home to help make the Swan Valley what it is today.
